Product Description

This is an aluminum hardware corner joint connector specifically designed for aluminum indoor folding partition doors. The use of aluminum for the connector ensures durability and a sleek appearance. This corner joint connector is crucial for maintaining the structural integrity of the folding partition doors. It provides a secure connection at the corners, enabling the doors to fold and unfold smoothly. This is especially important in indoor environments where the partition doors are used to divide spaces flexibly. The aluminum material is also resistant to corrosion, ensuring a long lifespan for the connector.
